

FLOWERS OF RWANDA

The importance of education through films in a post-genocide society

by David Muñoz
Documentary

Rwanda 14 years after the Rwandan genocide, during which more than 800,000 people were killed. What's the current situation of the people of Rwanda? Can genocide victims and killers live together? Can education help during the reconciliation process? Could films become a way of educating people and especially children in a post-genocide society? Can a film festival make a difference?
